Environmental, Structural & Stratigraphical Evolution of the Western Carpathians

Dear colleagues,

we provide you a second circular of the ESSEWECA 13th biannual conference, which will take place on 3-4 December 2024 in Bratislava. It is traditionally dedicated to the environmental, sedimentary, stratigraphical and structural evolution of the Western Carpathians and adjacent areas with Alpine orogenic zones and related Pannonian domain. The two-day conference will be dedicated to the lifelong work and scientific activity of our jubilant colleagues, dr. Marián Putiš, professor and expert in petrology, dr. Peter Holec, professor in the field of vertebrate paleontology and dr. Eva Halášová, an expert in micropaleontology and biostratigraphy of the Western Carpathians. The meeting will therefore provide a platform for diversified groups of specialists in a wide range of geoscience disciplines. We expect that the talks will allow a vigorous discussion of new developments and perspectives in research. The official language of the conference is English.
